

FUNDAMENTAL INSPECTION AND TESTING

of
ELECTRICAL INSTALLATIONS

CITY & GUILDS 2392 – 10 (Level 2)
£440 vat inc.

This short course is ideal for those operatives who have little practical experience of inspection and testing. The content is generally applicable to smaller installations and fulfils the requirements of Initial Verification.

It is also a useful pre-cursor to attendance on the full C&G 2391-10 course.

During the course the candidate will need to:

1. Show practical competence in the area of inspection, testing & certification
2. Undertake a City & Guilds on-line examination comprising a 100 minute 50 question, multiple choice test.

Success in both components results in a C&G 2392-10 Fundamental Inspection and Testing certificate.

Courses will run subject to demand and will be delivered one day a week for five weeks.

It is not considered wise to undertake this course unless candidates have attained C&G 17th Edition qualification. However, consideration, advice and guidance will be given to all interested applicants.

Course handouts will be provided, and although the final written assessment is 'closed book', candidates are advised to have their own copies of the 17th Edition (BS7671:2008) and the IEE Guidance note 3 on Inspection and testing
